Question 17 of 30 You got this incorrect. You chose A B E. Objective: Object Manager & Lightning App Builder

The support group at Ursa Major Solar has the following requirements:

- Agents need to capture different information for product support and inquiry cases.
- The lifecycle for inquiry cases should have fewer steps than the lifecycle for product support cases.

Which three features should a platform administrator use to meet these requirements?

Choose 3 options.

A. Page layouts

Correct. Page layouts control the layout and the organization of buttons, fields, links, etc. on object record pages. The admin is able to use page layouts to customize the content of record pages and make them unique for product support vs. inquiry.

B. Field-level security

Incorrect. Field-level security controls access to each field on the field-level, not on the object level.

C. Permission sets

Incorrect. Permission sets do not specify page layout assignments, which are tied to record types and ultimately will control the fields and picklist options that a user sees.

D. Support processes

Correct. After creating a support process, it is associated with a record type. Based on the record type chosen when creating a record (product support or inquiry in this example), the support process associated is used to determine the "status" field picklist on the case object.

E. Record types

Correct. Record types determine which page layouts and picklist values users have access to, so creating two different record types for product support vs. inquiry will meet these requirements.

Question 25 of 30 You got this correct! Objective: Service and Support Applications

Universal Containers wants to allow potential customers to submit Cases for technical inquiries. They do not have resources to set up a call center and need to make support available through another means.

Which two options should they consider?

Choose 2 options.

A. Adding a link to a specified routing address for Email-to-Case

Correct. Set up Email-to-Case to efficiently resolve customer issues. Salesforce automatically creates cases and auto-populates case fields when customers send messages to the specified email addresses.

B. Implement a Lightning Partner Community with Knowledge

Incorrect. Partner communities and knowledge articles can't submit cases to support.

C. Adding a link for Auto-Response Rules for Solutions

Incorrect. A link and auto-response rules can't submit cases to support.

D. Generate Web-to-Case HTML code to add to the website

Correct. Gather customer support requests directly from a website and automatically generate new cases with Web-to-Case. Setting up Web-to-Case involves enabling the feature, choosing settings, and adding the Web-to-Case form to your website.

Question 30 of 30 You got this incorrect. You chose B. Objective: Configuration and Setup

Universal Containers uses a custom object within the product development team. Product development, executives, and System Platform Administrators should be the only users with access to records of this object. Product development needs read/write access to all the records within the object, while the executives should only be able to view the records.

How can the System Platform Administrator configure the security model to meet these requirements?

A. Set the Organization-Wide Defaults for the custom object to Private; add the Executive users to the default team for the object; add the default team to all the records.

Incorrect. Assign default access to Controlled by Parent, Private, Public Read Only, or Public Read/Write. Object permissions specify the base-level access users have to create, read, edit, and delete records for each object. Manage object permissions in permission sets and profiles.

B. Set the Organization-Wide Defaults for the custom object to Private; give the Product Development Profile Modify All for the object; give the Executive Profile View All access.

Incorrect. Assign default access to Controlled by Parent, Private, Public Read Only, or Public Read/Write. Object permissions specify the base-level access users have to create, read, edit, and delete records for each object. Manage object permissions in permission sets and profiles.

C. Set the Organization-Wide Defaults for the custom object to Public Read Write; Give the Product Development Profile Read, Create, Edit permissions; give the Executive Profile Read Only permissions for that object.

Correct. Assign default access to Controlled by Parent, Private, Public Read Only, or Public Read/Write. Object permissions specify the base-level access users have to create, read, edit, and delete records for each object. Manage object permissions in permission sets and profiles.

D. Set the Organization-Wide Defaults for the custom object to Public Read Write; create a Read Only Sharing Rule to share all records in the object with the Executive Public Group.
